Celebrating our Community Participation Supports Program

We are pleased to share with you our celebration edition for the new design of our Community Participation Supports (CPS) program. On the following pages, you will find stories reflective of the community involvement opportunities the CPS staff have developed to meet individual goals. The smiling faces speak for themselves. We hope you will enjoy hearing stories of how people are involved in their community and successes they have achieved. To make this change happen, the staff were tasked in phase one of the implementation plan with developing one new individual opportunity in the community for each person they support. Part of this process was to identify what was important to each person with respect to recreation, leisure or volunteering. The team was also tasked with working with natural supports, families and others to build community connections and develop opportunities.

Of course, we cannot make these changes alone, and want to thank the support teams who have been involved to make each opportunity successful. Most importantly, I would like to thank each person who has agreed to share their story and has been so patient with us during this change. It is really your personal success we are celebrating! Please stay tuned as we continue down our path for building meaningful individualized community opportunities.
